Move Managers Smooth Out Life Transitions for Seniors and People with Disabilities

We provide peace of mind with detailed planning and careful follow-through, whether moving locally or out-of-state. We coordinate and implement your move, handling all details from start to finish.

Salt Lake City, UT – Let's Make This Move are not movers: we are Senior Move Managers or Personal Move Coordinators. Our special commitment is to older adults, individuals with disabilities and their families, for whom the emotional stress and physical demands of moving can be especially burdensome. Oftentimes both the senior and the family is stressed before the move even begins.

We know that moving is not about boxes; making a major life transition is about memories, feelings and people.

Let's Make This Move in Salt Lake City was started in 2016 by Sue Danielson and is now transitioning to a new owner, Toni Carter. Toni has had first-hand experience as a Realtor for over 18 years helping families prepare their homes for sale, making suggestions on how to de-clutter and downsize and make the move to a new home. The burden of selling a home when a family member becomes ill or passes falls to their children or other family member, sometimes who live out-of-town.

We understand that relocating to a new home is an emotional and stressful time. There is so much to do and numerous decisions to make; which possessions to keep; which to give to family, friends or charity; how to sell items you no longer need; how to pack and ship your belongs and how to unpack and organize your new home. There are decisions, calls, details, arrangements, and unanticipated problems to deal with. Most people feel overwhelmed, and rightly so.

Very often, later-life moves come about as the result the death of a loved one, when declining health necessitates a move to a new residence, an assisted living or skilled nursing facility, or the decision to move forward to an active retirement community.

“Seniors need assistance with rightsizing their home in order to remain at home or make the move. We can help to de-clutter and organize the home, add safety features and help to dispose of all the extra items in the home that are no longer needed,” says Toni Carter, Owner.

If you or your loved one is up all night making mental lists... Don't despair. Let's Make This Move helps take the stress out of moving.

Services provided by a Senior Move Manager are:

PLANNING

- In-home consultation where wants and needs are discussed and assessed
- Develop a moving plan based on those wants and needs
- Provide a move timeline and checklist of tasks to be completed
- Measure furniture and develop a floor plan for the new residence that will show where the furniture will go.

ORGANIZING

- Determining what items to take, sell or donate
- Assistance deciding what and what not to take
- Work with moving companies to arrange move time and meet with movers to coordinate the move at both the old and new residence
- Pack items to be moved using either the customer's packing materials or the senior move manager's
- Labeling boxes for easy unpacking and keeping an inventory of all items
- Coordinate stooping and starting utilities, cable, etc. at old and new home

MOVING DAY

- Coordinate with the moving company so that all items are correctly moved or left for the sale of donation
- Some senior move managers are also elderly moving companies who will load and transport your belongings
- Unpacking of essential items
- Setting up the furniture according to the floor plan
- Connecting electronics such as TV, phone and computer

OTHER SERVICES

- Prepare and conduct sale of items in home not taken to new residence
- Arranging for items not sold/moved to be donated or disposed
- Coordinate professional cleaning of the home
- Realtor referrals for selling of old home
- Home repairs and contractor referrals for preparing old home for sale
